ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
WASHINGTON, DC 20301-1300

APR 15 2011

The Honorable Joseph R. Biden, Jr.
President of the Senate
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Mr. President:

Enclosed please find additional legislative proposals that the Department of Defense requests be enacted during the first session of the 112th Congress. The purpose of each proposal is stated in the accompanying section-by-section analysis. These proposals are submitted by the Department as a follow-on to the earlier transmittal of our request for enactment of proposed legislation titled the "National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2012".

Included in this transmittal is a proposal to transition future enrollees in the Uniformed Services Family Health Plan to TRICARE for Life once they become Medicare-eligible due to age. Because this proposal would affect direct spending, it is subject to Pay-As-You-Go (PAYGO) requirements. This proposal is estimated to decrease direct spending by $34 million over five years and $279 million over ten years, which would result in savings on the five-and ten-year PAYGO scorecards.

Net Deficit impact		-1	-4	-12	-4	-13	-18	-29	-47	-63	-88	-279

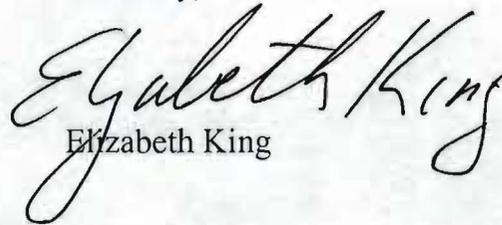

Also included in this transmittal is a proposal to allow funds collected for damage to all Government property controlled by the Department of Defense to be deposited into and obligated from the account responsible for the repair or replacement of the damaged Government property. This proposal also affects direct spending and is therefore subject to PAYGO requirements. This proposal is estimated to increase direct spending by $10 million over five years and $20 million over ten years, which would result in costs on the five- and ten-year PAYGO scorecards.

The Department is currently working with the Administration on additional legislative initiatives, which the Department hopes to transmit to Congress for its consideration in the coming weeks.

The Office of Management and Budget advises that there is no objection, from the standpoint of the Administration's program, to the presenting of these legislative proposals for your consideration and the consideration of Congress.

Section-by-Section Analysis

Overview: The Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ; chapter 47 of title 10, United States Code) constitutes the military’s criminal code and judicial system for the trial of offenses by courts-martial. Pursuant to Article 36, UCMJ, the President is given rule-making authority to prescribe pretrial, trial, and post-trial procedures, including modes of proof, for cases arising under the UCMJ triable by courts-martial and other specified military tribunals. The President exercises this rule-making authority through Executive Orders that prescribe the Manual for Courts-Martial (Manual) and any amendments to the Manual deemed necessary. In 1984, Executive Order 12473 prescribed the Manual’s rules and procedures and called upon the Secretary of Defense to cause the Manual to be reviewed annually and to recommend to the President any appropriate amendments.

The Secretary of Defense causes this annual review to be conducted by a Joint Services Committee on Military Justice (JSC) operating under the direction of the General Counsel and pursuant to Department of Defense Directive 5500.17 to ensure that the UCMJ and Manual fulfill their fundamental purpose as a comprehensive body of military criminal law and procedure. The charter for the annual review process is to propose amendments, as necessary, to the Manual by proposed Executive Order or to the UCMJ by proposed legislation.

The JSC and DoD is proposing a legislative amendment to Article 120, UCMJ, “Rape, Sexual Assault, and Other Sexual Misconduct.” This proposal addresses the report and recommendation of the Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military (December 2009), that Article 120, UCMJ, be reviewed because “Practitioners consistently advised Task Force members that the new Article 120 (effective October 1, 2007) is cumbersome and confusing. Prosecutors expressed concern that it may be causing unwarranted acquittals. In addition, significant issues related to the constitutionality of Article 120’s statutory affirmative defense of ‘consent’ and to lesser included offenses have evolved.” This report and similar concerns with Article 120, as amended in 2007, have been raised with members of Congress and their staff, who are looking to DoD to address and remedy those concerns. This proposed amendment to Article 120, UCMJ, addresses those calls for prompt DoD action, as well as addresses the U. S. Court of the Armed Forces conclusion in United States v. Prather (2011 CAAF LEXIS 95, February 8, 2011), that the current statutory interplay involving the burden shift to the accused in Article 120, UCMJ, is unconstitutional, and that once an accused proves an affirmative defense by a preponderance of the evidence, the second shift of the burden to the government within Article 120, UCMJ, constitutes a legal impossibility.

In addition, Article 125—Sodomy—is proposed for repeal. Offenses currently falling under Article 125 will be subsumed into other UCMJ provisions. All offenses currently constitutionally punishable under Article 125 will continue to be punishable under the proposals in the complete package for Articles 120, 120b and 134.

Subsection (a): AMENDED ARTICLE 120:

Purpose: Article 120 maintains the focus on offender behavior that was a centerpiece of the 2007 statute. This proposal splits Article 120 into three parts: Article 120 is rape and sexual assault of any person, Article 120b is rape and sexual assault of children, and Article 120c is other sexual misconduct. The statutory treatment of consent has been simplified. Definitions are simplified overall and the number of offenses has been reduced.

Specific Provisions:

Rape: The offense of rape is largely unchanged. The primary difference in this revision is that rape by force is now rape by unlawful force. The word unlawful aligns the definition of force with Assault under Article 128. This will facilitate prosecution of forcible rape cases by simplifying treatment of the issue of consent in light of the decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces in United States v. Neal, 68 M.J. 289 (2010). Specifically, as a result of the Neal decision, consent can now be considered a secondary factor in a forcible rape prosecution, which could become an obstacle to the government presenting evidence that is relevant and necessary to obtain a conviction. In cases where the act is achieved by force, the defense, citing Neal, could prevent the prosecution from bringing in evidence of lack of consent under the theory that the evidence merely bolsters the element of force. By making unlawfulness of the force an issue, the focus remains on the offender's conduct being the causative factor for the sexual act, but the victim's manifestation of lack of consent is now direct evidence that must be considered by the trier of fact. This also empowers victims by making their desire for a sexual act not to occur an admissible factor to be considered in a case of forcible rape. Also, the word “commits” was substituted for “engages in” a sexual act, to remove any suggestion of reciprocal engagement in the act by the victim.

Sexual Assault: The offense of Aggravated Sexual Assault is currently one of the most confusing aspects of Article 120. The revision “unpacks” the offense and clarifies what conduct is proscribed. The offense is renamed Sexual Assault to address a court member’s reluctance to convict for “aggravated” sexual assault merely because the offense does not, for whatever reason, seem sufficiently aggravated to the court member. Also, since there is no sexual act offense of lesser severity, the term “aggravated” was a misnomer. The revision also removes the focus from the degree of incapacity of the victim and refocuses on the accused’s actions. Thus, a sexual act with a person who the offender knows or reasonably should know is incapable of consenting due to intoxication or a mental or physical disability is prohibited.

The definition of sexual assault by causing bodily harm was clarified to note that any sexual act or contact without consent constitutes bodily harm, providing an explicit “no means no” statute. A sexual assault of a victim who is in a state of ‘frozen fear’ when assaulted may be prosecuted under this subsection. Fraudulent representations that the sexual act was for a medical purpose, or that the accused was some other person, are also prohibited. A sexual act with a person who the offender knows or reasonably should know is sleeping or unconscious is prohibited. Also, the word “commits” was substituted for “engages in” a sexual act, to remove any suggestion of reciprocal engagement in the act by the victim.

The change also helps facilitate the prosecution of cases where doctors or other professionals take advantage of their position to abuse a patient. Fraudulent representations that the sexual act was for a medical purpose, or that the accused was some other person, are also prohibited. Article 120b(1)(D) is intended to cover 'fraud in factum' situations when one person pretends to be another, rather than merely 'fraud in the inducement,' like flattering someone or exaggerating one's own desirability. See for example United States v. Booker, 25 M.J. 114 (CMA 1987), in which 'fraud in factum' was accepted as a theory of criminal liability under the pre-2007 version of Article 120.

Sexual Contact offenses: Aggravated Sexual Contact and Abusive Sexual Contact are mostly unchanged except to substitute “commits” for “engages in” in accordance with the analysis above. Wrongful Sexual Contact is deleted because it is no longer necessary. With the clarified “bodily harm” under Sexual Assault (any offensive touching), Abusive Sexual Contact now also contains an offense for any offensive touching that is sexual contact. This is the same offense that is now separately listed under Wrongful Sexual Contact. Due to the complete overlap, Wrongful Sexual Contact was deleted.

Defenses: The only defense denied in all circumstances under this section is marriage. Rape and sexual assault are offender-focused crimes that are criminal even if the offender is married to the victim. This is a change from the current statute, which allowed marriage as a defense when the victim was incapacitated, even if there was no consent to the sexual act. Otherwise, the accused is free to bring any available defense. This is a change from the current statute, under which the restrictions on consent as a defense, and the manner in which the defense is proven, have resulted in a great deal of litigation and confusion, which is unlikely to be resolved by the decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces in United States v. Neal, 68 M.J. 289 (2010).

Definitions in Article 120(t) are renumbered and modified as Article 120(g):

Sexual act includes penetration of the vulva by the penis, and penetration of the vulva, anus, or mouth, by any other part of the body or by a foreign object.

Sexual contact is expanded to include touching any part of the body with sexual intent. Touching may be accomplished by any part of the body, including the hands or the mouth.

Bodily harm is clarified to better explain that an offensive touching includes any sexual act or contact performed without consent. The definition of grievous bodily harm is unchanged.

Force: This definition was simplified and the overlaps with “threaten or place another person in fear” were reduced or eliminated to simplify charging decisions. The Military Judges’ Benchbook definition of “unlawful force” from Article 128, Assault, was added.

Threatening or placing that other person in fear: This definition was greatly simplified and the overlaps with force were reduced or eliminated to simplify charging decisions. The ability to carry out the threat was removed as a proof requirement for the government.

Consent: The definition of consent was left generally unchanged. The restrictions on the use of evidence of consent were deleted. The circular language in the current law using nearly the same words to explain the interaction of consent and capacity, as were used to define an offense under Sexual Assault, was deleted. The Constitutional and other legal issues that have developed in litigation regarding Article 120, as amended in 2007, are resolved. The treatment of consent is simplified and may be disputed where it is relevant. Categories of persons who may not legally give consent to sexual acts or contact are set forth within the statute to simplify the matters at issue in court. For example, the proposed change makes it clear that sleeping or unconscious persons cannot consent. At least two court members’ panels within the last year have acquitted in sexual assault cases due to confusion over this issue. Persons subjected to a fraudulent representation of a professional purpose to accomplish the act, or under the belief that the person committing the act is another person, cannot consent because they do not understand to what they are consenting. Lack of consent was made a permissive inference based on the circumstances of the offense.

Subsection (b): NEW ARTICLE 120b:

Purpose of proposed changes: This section (Article 120b) of the proposed three-section modification of Article 120 covers sexual offenses against children (any person who has not attained the age of 16 years). It simplifies the language in the current Article 120 for rape of children over 12 to make the requirements for proving such a rape appropriate to children rather than the current standard of a reasonable adult victim. The definitions of prohibited sexual acts, sexual contact, and lewd acts are broadened to cover all possible sexual offenses against children currently covered under several confusing and disparate subsections of Article 120. It should be noted that what would be a fourth section to Article 120 offenses, Article 120a, “Stalking,” already exists.

Specific provisions:

Rape. Sexual acts defined as rape now include penetration by objects. Any sexual act with a child under 12 is rape, and is a strict liability offense. This is identical to long-standing military law under older carnal knowledge provisions and the current Art. 120, except the definition of rape is broadened to include to include penetration by objects. The defense of mistake of fact as to age is eliminated for cases involving rape of a child. Marriage is eliminated as a defense to rape of a child under any circumstances. It is not acceptable to rape any person, even if that person is your spouse. Additionally, sexual activity is not appropriate with children under 12.

Rape of a child over 12 requires some use of force together with the sexual act. The types of force required are similar to those for adults, but with lower thresholds given that the victim is a child. Unlike offenses against adults, consent is not at issue because children cannot consent as a matter of law. Although reworded for clarity, there is ultimately no substantive change in long-standing military law regarding the offense of rape of a child. The substantive change from the current Article 120 is to correct the use of adult standards of force when the victim is a child.

Sexual Assault. This is the same as the current Article 120. Strict liability for any sexual act with a child over 12 years, except the accused has a defense of mistake of fact as to age, which the accused must prove by a preponderance of evidence.

Sexual Abuse. Sexual Abuse combines several offenses into one. This combination of offenses was intended to capture the gravamen of the offenses while maintaining the simplicity that was desired for counsel, judges and members. Any lewd act with a child of any age is punishable under this subsection. The defense of mistake of fact as to age is available when the child is over 12 years, which the accused must prove by a preponderance of evidence. “Lewd act” is defined to include all sexual contact, indecent exposure to a child, communicating indecent language to a child, and indecent conduct with or in the presence of a child. Exposure, communication, and indecent conduct now include offenses committed via any communication technology to encompass offenses committed via the internet, cell phones, and other modern forms of communication. This fixes the current requirement under indecent liberties that only conduct committed in the physical presence of a child is punishable; this has made prosecution of cases difficult where, for example, an accused masturbates in front of a child via webcam.

Consent. Subsection (f) explicitly states that lack of consent need not be proven for any sexual offense against a child and that a child may not consent as a matter of law. This is the same as current law.

Subsection (c): NEW ARTICLE 120c:

Purpose of proposed changes: The proposed Article 120c captures non-consensual sexual misconduct offenses that subject an offender to sex offender registration. It is the third of three distinct sex crime sections derived from Article 120, as amended in 2007, and captures those offenses that are something other than rape and sexual assault of adults (Art. 120) or rape, sexual assault and sexual abuse of children (Art. 120b). Note that Article 120a is the offense of stalking, a provision unaffected by the proposed amendments to Art. 120.

Specific provisions:

Indecent Viewing, Visual Recording, or Broadcasting. This offense clarifies the offense previously covered by Article 120(k)—Indecent act. It makes clear that both viewing and recording are offenses. It also explicitly creates an offense for distribution of any recording made in violation of the statute, which is not clearly prohibited under the current statute. A generic “indecent acts” provision, identical to what existed under Article 134 prior to the 2007 amendments, would also be proposed by Executive Order amendment to Part IV, “Punitive Articles,” of the Manual for Courts-Martial as Article 134 listed offenses that would capture other types of sexual misconduct that do not qualify for sex offender registration, but nonetheless violate military law.

Forcible pandering. This provision is clarified, but otherwise remains unchanged from the current Art. 120. Non-forcible pandering and non-forcible prostitution are already specified offenses under Article 134 in Part IV, “Punitive Articles,” Manual for Courts-Martial.

Indecent exposure. This provision is changed from the current Art. 120 to take away the limitation based on viewing by persons other than members of the household. If the conduct is obscene under the definition of indecent then the conduct is not constitutionally protected and the accused should not be able to avoid criminal consequences by committing the obscenity towards members of his or her own family. A lesser offense of “wrongful exposure” (public nudity that is contrary to good order and discipline or service discrediting) would be proposed as a specified offense under Article 134 of Part IV, “Punitive Articles,” Manual for Courts-Martial.

Definitions. The “private area” definition for the offense of Indecent Viewing includes nudity or someone clad only in underwear.

Subsection (d): REPEAL OF ARTICLE 125:

Forcible Sodomy. The proposed changes to Article 120—Rape and Sexual Assault expand the definition of prohibited sexual acts to include not just sexual intercourse, but all forms of intercourse, including oral and anal sex, and penetration by objects. All offenses previously punishable as forcible sodomy under Article 125 will remain punishable under the proposed changes to Article 120. This change is based on the belief that rape and sexual assault do not depend on the bodily orifice that is violated.

Consensual Sodomy. This provision in Article 125 has been curtailed by court precedent. The Supreme Court has held that private, consensual sexual activity between adults, regardless of gender, is a protected liberty interest under the Constitution. Lawrence v. Texas, 539 US 558 (2003). In light of Lawrence, the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces expressly limited the scope of Article 125 consensual sodomy prosecutions to cases with a definite military nexus. United States v. Marcum, 63 MJ 198, 207-08 (CAAF 2004) (Lawrence liberty interest tempered by needs of military).

A proposed change to Article 134 creates a new offense of wrongful sexual activity, which prohibits those acts now covered under Article 125 as consensual sodomy, as well as other consensual sexual acts, so long as the sexual activity is to the prejudice of good order and discipline in the Armed Forces or is conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the Armed Forces, thus providing the definite military nexus required by the Constitution.

Sodomy offenses against children. These will be covered under the proposed Article 120b, which covers rape, sexual assault and sexual abuse of children, including all sexual acts and penetration by objects. All offenses against children previously punishable under Article 125 will continue to be punishable under the proposed changes to Article 120b.

Bestiality. This offense will now be covered under proposed changes to Article 134—Animal Abuse and Abandonment, as a form of punishable animal abuse.

Subsection (e): CONFORMING AMENDMENTS:

1. Amendment to Article 43: This is a technical amendment to Article 43 to conform references to the current Article 120 (Rape, Sexual Assault and Sexual Misconduct) with the proposed revision to Article 120 (Rape and Sexual Assault Generally) and enactment of Article 120b (Rape and Sexual Assault of Children) and Article 120c (Sexual Misconduct).

2. Amendment to Article 118: This is a technical amendment to Article 118 to conform references to the current Article 120 (Rape, Sexual Assault and Sexual Misconduct) with the proposed revision to Article 120 (Rape and Sexual Assault Generally) and enactment of Article 120b (Rape and Sexual Assault of Children) and Article 120c (Sexual Misconduct).

Budget Implications: This proposal would not result in any appreciable increased costs to the Department of Defense as it relates to the administration of the military justice system.

Changes to Existing Law: This proposal would make the following changes to chapter 47 of title 10, United States Code:

CHAPTER 47—UNIFORM CODE OF MILITARY JUSTICE

It is not an affirmative defense that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 12 years.—~~

~~(2) SIXTEEN YEARS.— In a prosecution under subsection (d) (aggravated sexual assault of a child), subsection (f) (aggravated sexual abuse of a child), subsection (i) (abusive sexual contact with a child), or subsection (j) (indecent liberty with a child), it need not be proven that the accused knew that the other person engaging in the sexual act, contact, or liberty had not attained the age of 16 years. Unlike in paragraph (1), however, it is an affirmative defense that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 16 years.—~~

~~(p)~~(e) PROOF OF THREAT.—In a prosecution under this section, in proving that the accused a person made a threat, it need not be proven that the accused person actually intended to carry out the threat or had the ability to carry out the threat.

~~(2) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, a marriage is a relationship, recognized by the laws of a competent State or foreign jurisdiction, between the accused and the other person as spouses. A marriage exists until it is dissolved in accordance with the laws of a competent State or foreign jurisdiction.~~

~~(f) CONSENT AND MISTAKE OF FACT AS TO CONSENT.—Lack of permission is an element of the offense in subsection (m) (wrongful sexual contact). Consent and mistake of fact as to consent are not an issue, or an affirmative defense, in a prosecution under any other subsection, except they are an affirmative defense for the sexual conduct in issue in a prosecution under subsection (a) (rape), subsection (c) (aggravated sexual assault), subsection (e) (aggravated sexual contact), and subsection (h) (abusive sexual contact).~~

~~(t)~~(g) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(A) contact between the penis and the vulva or anus or mouth, and for purposes of this subparagraph contact involving the penis occurs upon penetration, however slight; or

(B) the penetration, however slight, of the ~~genital opening~~ vulva or anus or mouth of another by a hand or finger any part of the body or by any object, with an intent to abuse, humiliate, harass, or degrade any person or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

(2) SEXUAL CONTACT.—The term “sexual contact” means—

(A) the intentional touching, or causing another person to touch, either directly or through the clothing, ~~of the genitalia, anus, groin, breast, inner thigh, or buttocks of another~~ any person, with an intent to abuse, humiliate or degrade any person; or

(B) intentionally any touching, or causing another person to touch, either directly or through the clothing, ~~the genitalia, anus, groin, breast, inner thigh, or buttocks~~ any part of any person, if done with an intent to abuse, humiliate, or degrade any person or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

Touching may be accomplished by any part of the body.

(3) BODILY HARM.—The term “bodily harm” means any offensive touching of another, however slight, including any nonconsensual sexual act or nonconsensual sexual contact.

~~(3)~~(4) GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM.—The term “grievous bodily harm” means serious bodily injury. It includes fractured or dislocated bones, deep cuts, torn members of the body, serious damage to internal organs, and other severe bodily injuries. It does not include minor injuries such as a black eye or a bloody nose. ~~It is the same level of injury as in section 928 (article 128) of this chapter, and a lesser degree of injury than in section 2246(4) of title 18.~~

~~(4) DANGEROUS WEAPON OR OBJECT.—~~The term “~~dangerous weapon or object~~” means—

~~(A) any firearm, loaded or not, and whether operable or not;~~

~~(B) any other weapon, device, instrument, material, or substance, whether animate or inanimate, that in the manner it is used, or is intended to be used, is known to be capable of producing death or grievous bodily harm; or~~

~~(C) any object fashioned or utilized in such a manner as to lead the victim under the circumstances to reasonably believe it to be capable of producing death or grievous bodily harm.~~

~~(5) FORCE.—~~The term “force” means ~~action to compel submission of another or to overcome or prevent another's resistance by—~~

~~(A) the use or display of a dangerous weapon or object;~~

~~(B) the suggestion of possession of a dangerous weapon or object that is used in a manner to cause another to believe it is a dangerous weapon or object; or~~

~~(C) physical violence, strength, power, or restraint applied to another person, sufficient that the other person could not avoid or escape the sexual conduct.~~

(B) the use of such physical strength or violence as is sufficient to overcome, restrain, or injure a person; or

(C) inflicting physical harm sufficient to coerce or compel submission by the victim.

(6) UNLAWFUL FORCE.—The term “unlawful force” means an act of force done without legal justification or excuse.

~~(6)~~(7) THREATENING OR PLACING THAT OTHER PERSON IN FEAR.—The term “threatening or placing that other person in fear” ~~under paragraph (3) of subsection (a) (rape), or under subsection (e) (aggravated sexual contact),~~ means a communication or action that is of sufficient consequence to cause a reasonable fear that non-compliance will result in the victim or another person being subjected to ~~death, grievous bodily harm, or kidnapping~~ the wrongful action contemplated by the communication or action.

(7) THREATENING OR PLACING THAT OTHER PERSON IN FEAR.—

— (A) IN GENERAL.— The term “threatening or placing that other person in fear” under paragraph (1)(A) of subsection (c) (aggravated sexual assault), or under subsection (h) (abusive sexual contact), means a communication or action that is of sufficient consequence to cause a reasonable fear that non-compliance will result in the victim or another being subjected to a lesser degree of harm than death, grievous bodily harm, or kidnapping.

— (B) INCLUSIONS.— Such lesser degree of harm includes—

— (i) physical injury to another person or to another person's property; or

— (ii) a threat—

— (I) to accuse any person of a crime;

— (II) to expose a secret or publicize an asserted fact, whether true or false, tending to subject some person to hatred, contempt or ridicule; or

— (III) through the use or abuse of military position, rank, or authority, to affect or threaten to affect, either positively or negatively, the military career of some person.

(8) BODILY HARM.— The term “bodily harm” means any offensive touching of another, however slight.

(9) CHILD.— The term “child” means any person who has not attained the age of 16 years.

(10) LEWD ACT.— The term “lewd act” means—

(A) the intentional touching, not through the clothing, of the genitalia of another person, with an intent to abuse, humiliate, or degrade any person, or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person; or

(B) intentionally causing another person to touch, not through the clothing, the genitalia of any person with an intent to abuse, humiliate or degrade any person, or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

(11) INDECENT LIBERTY.— The term “indecent liberty” means indecent conduct, but physical contact is not required. It includes one who with the requisite intent exposes one's genitalia, anus, buttocks, or female areola or nipple to a child. An indecent liberty may consist of communication of indecent language as long as the communication is made in the physical presence of the child. If words designed to excite sexual desire are spoken to a child, or a child is exposed to or involved in sexual conduct, it is an indecent liberty; the child's consent is not relevant.

(12) INDECENT CONDUCT.— The term “indecent conduct” means that form of immorality relating to sexual impurity which is grossly vulgar, obscene, and repugnant to common propriety, and tends to excite sexual desire or deprave morals with respect to sexual relations. Indecent conduct includes observing, or making a videotape, photograph, motion picture, print, negative, slide, or other mechanically, electronically, or chemically reproduced visual material, without another person's consent, and contrary to that other person's reasonable expectation of privacy, of—

(A) that other person's genitalia, anus, or buttocks, or (if that other person is female) that person's areola or nipple; or

~~(B) that other person while that other person is engaged in a sexual act, sodomy (under section 925 (article 125)), or sexual contact.~~

~~(13) ACT OF PROSTITUTION.—The term “act of prostitution” means a sexual act, sexual contact, or lewd act for the purpose of receiving money or other compensation.~~

~~(14)~~(8) CONSENT.—(A) The term “consent” means words or overt acts indicating a freely given agreement to the sexual conduct at issue by a competent person. An expression of lack of consent through words or conduct means there is no consent. Lack of verbal or physical resistance or submission resulting from the accused's use of force, threat of force, or placing another person in fear does not constitute consent. A current or previous dating or social or sexual relationship by itself or the manner of dress of the person involved with the accused in the sexual conduct at issue shall not constitute consent. A person cannot consent to sexual activity if—

~~(A) under 16 years of age; or~~

~~(B) substantially incapable of—~~

~~(i) appraising the nature of the sexual conduct at issue due to—~~

~~(I) mental impairment or unconsciousness resulting from consumption of alcohol, drugs, a similar substance, or otherwise; or~~

~~(II) mental disease or defect which renders the person unable to understand the nature of the sexual conduct at issue;~~

~~(ii) physically declining participation in the sexual conduct at issue; or~~

~~(iii) physically communicating unwillingness to engage in the sexual~~

~~conduct at issue.~~

(B) A sleeping, unconscious or incompetent person cannot consent. A person cannot consent to force causing or likely to cause death or grievous bodily harm, or to being rendered unconscious. A person cannot consent while under threat or in fear, or based on the circumstances described in subparagraph (C) or (D) of subsection (b)(1).

(C) Lack of consent may be inferred based on the circumstances of the offense. All the surrounding circumstances are to be considered in determining whether a person gave consent, or whether a person did not resist or ceased to resist only because of another person's actions.

~~(15) MISTAKE OF FACT AS TO CONSENT.—The term “mistake of fact as to consent” means the accused held, as a result of ignorance or mistake, an incorrect belief that the other person engaging in the sexual conduct consented. The ignorance or mistake must have existed in the mind of the accused and must have been reasonable under all the circumstances. To be reasonable the ignorance or mistake must have been based on information, or lack of it, which would indicate to a reasonable person that the other person consented. Additionally, the ignorance or mistake cannot be based on the negligent failure to discover the true facts. Negligence is the absence of due care. Due care is what a reasonably careful person would do under the same or similar circumstances. The accused's state of intoxication, if any, at the time of the offense is not relevant to mistake of fact. A mistaken belief that the other person consented must be that which a reasonably careful, ordinary, prudent, sober adult would have had under the circumstances at the time of the offense.~~

~~(16) AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE.—The term “affirmative defense” means any special defense which, although not denying that the accused committed the objective acts constituting the offense charged, denies, wholly, or partially, criminal responsibility for those acts. The accused has the burden of proving the affirmative defense by a preponderance of evidence. After the defense meets this burden, the prosecution shall have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the affirmative defense did not exist.~~

(d) AGE OF CHILD.—

(1) UNDER 12 YEARS.—In a prosecution under this section, it need not be proven that the accused knew the age of the other person engaging in the sexual act or lewd act. It is not a defense that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 12 years.

(2) UNDER 16 YEARS.—In a prosecution under this section, it need not be proven that the accused knew that the other person engaging in the sexual act or lewd act had not attained the age of 16 years, but it is a defense in a prosecution under subsection (b) (sexual assault of a child) or subsection (c) (sexual abuse of a child), which the accused must prove by a preponderance of the evidence, that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 16 years, if the child had in fact attained at least the age of 12 years.

(e) PROOF OF THREAT.—In a prosecution under this section, in proving that a person made a threat, it need not be proven that the person actually intended to carry out the threat or had the ability to carry out the threat.

consenting to the sexual act due to impairment by any drug, intoxicant, or other similar substance, and that condition was known or reasonably should have been known by the accused.

In the case of a parent-child or similar relationship, the use or abuse of parental or similar authority is sufficient to constitute the use of force.

(3) THREATENING OR PLACING THAT CHILD IN FEAR.—The term “threatening or placing that child in fear” means a communication or action that is of sufficient consequence to cause the child to fear that non-compliance will result in the child or another person being subjected to the action contemplated by the communication or action.

(4) CHILD.—The term “child” means any person who has not attained the age of 16 years.

(5) LEWD ACT.—The term “lewd act” means—

(D) any indecent conduct, intentionally done with or in the presence of a child, including via any communication technology, that amounts to a form of immorality relating to sexual impurity which is grossly vulgar, obscene, and repugnant to common propriety, and tends to excite sexual desire or deprave morals with respect to sexual relations.

(a) INDECENT VIEWING, VISUAL RECORDING, OR BROADCASTING.—Any person subject to this chapter who, without legal justification or lawful authorization—

(1) knowingly and wrongfully views the private area of another person, without that other person’s consent and under circumstances in which that other person has a reasonable expectation of privacy;

(2) knowingly photographs, videotapes, films, or records by any means, the

private area of another person, without that other person's consent and under circumstances in which that other person has a reasonable expectation of privacy; or

(2) PRIVATE AREA.—The term “private area” means the naked or underwear-clad genitalia, anus, buttocks, or female areola or nipple.

(3) REASONABLE EXPECTATION OF PRIVACY.—The term “under circumstances in which that other person has a reasonable expectation of privacy” means—

4 “(2) UNDER 16 YEARS.—In a prosecution under this section, it need not be proven
5 that the accused knew that the other person engaging in the sexual act or lewd act had not
6 attained the age of 16 years, but it is a defense in a prosecution under subsection (b)
7 (sexual assault of a child) or subsection (c) (sexual abuse of a child), which the accused 8 must prove by a preponderance of the evidence, that the accused reasonably believed that 19 16 years.

8 child, including via any communication technology, that amounts to a form of 9 immorality relating to sexual impurity which is grossly vulgar, obscene, and 10 repugnant to common propriety, and tends to excite sexual desire or deprave 11 morals with respect to sexual relations.”.

12 (c) OTHER SEXUAL MISCONDUCT.—Such chapter (the Uniform Code of Military Justice), 13 is further amended by inserting after section 920b (article 120b), as added by subsection (b), the

Section-by-Section Analysis

Overview: The Uniform Code of Military Justice (UCMJ; chapter 47 of title 10, United States Code) constitutes the military’s criminal code and judicial system for the trial of offenses by courts-martial. Pursuant to Article 36, UCMJ, the President is given rule-making authority to prescribe pretrial, trial, and post-trial procedures, including modes of proof, for cases arising under the UCMJ triable by courts-martial and other specified military tribunals. The President exercises this rule-making authority through Executive Orders that prescribe the Manual for Courts-Martial (Manual) and any amendments to the Manual deemed necessary. In 1984, Executive Order 12473 prescribed the Manual’s rules and procedures and called upon the Secretary of Defense to cause the Manual to be reviewed annually and to recommend to the President any appropriate amendments.

The Secretary of Defense causes this annual review to be conducted by a Joint Services Committee on Military Justice (JSC) operating under the direction of the General Counsel and pursuant to Department of Defense Directive 5500.17 to ensure that the UCMJ and Manual fulfill their fundamental purpose as a comprehensive body of military criminal law and procedure. The charter for the annual review process is to propose amendments, as necessary, to the Manual by proposed Executive Order or to the UCMJ by proposed legislation.

The JSC and DoD is proposing a legislative amendment to Article 120, UCMJ, “Rape, Sexual Assault, and Other Sexual Misconduct.” This proposal addresses the report and recommendation of the Defense Task Force on Sexual Assault in the Military (December 2009), that Article 120, UCMJ, be reviewed because “Practitioners consistently advised Task Force members that the new Article 120 (effective October 1, 2007) is cumbersome and confusing. Prosecutors expressed concern that it may be causing unwarranted acquittals. In addition, significant issues related to the constitutionality of Article 120’s statutory affirmative defense of ‘consent’ and to lesser included offenses have evolved.” This report and similar concerns with Article 120, as amended in 2007, have been raised with members of Congress and their staff, who are looking to DoD to address and remedy those concerns. This proposed amendment to Article 120, UCMJ, addresses those calls for prompt DoD action, as well as addresses the U. S. Court of the Armed Forces conclusion in United States v. Prather (2011 CAAF LEXIS 95, February 8, 2011), that the current statutory interplay involving the burden shift to the accused in Article 120, UCMJ, is unconstitutional, and that once an accused proves an affirmative defense by a preponderance of the evidence, the second shift of the burden to the government within Article 120, UCMJ, constitutes a legal impossibility.

In addition, Article 125—Sodomy—is proposed for repeal. Offenses currently falling under Article 125 will be subsumed into other UCMJ provisions. All offenses currently constitutionally punishable under Article 125 will continue to be punishable under the proposals in the complete package for Articles 120, 120b and 134.

Subsection (a): AMENDED ARTICLE 120:

Purpose: Article 120 maintains the focus on offender behavior that was a centerpiece of the 2007 statute. This proposal splits Article 120 into three parts: Article 120 is rape and sexual assault of any person, Article 120b is rape and sexual assault of children, and Article 120c is other sexual misconduct. The statutory treatment of consent has been simplified. Definitions are simplified overall and the number of offenses has been reduced.

Specific Provisions:

Rape: The offense of rape is largely unchanged. The primary difference in this revision is that rape by force is now rape by unlawful force. The word unlawful aligns the definition of force with Assault under Article 128. This will facilitate prosecution of forcible rape cases by simplifying treatment of the issue of consent in light of the decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces in United States v. Neal, 68 M.J. 289 (2010). Specifically, as a result of the Neal decision, consent can now be considered a secondary factor in a forcible rape prosecution, which could become an obstacle to the government presenting evidence that is relevant and necessary to obtain a conviction. In cases where the act is achieved by force, the defense, citing Neal, could prevent the prosecution from bringing in evidence of lack of consent under the theory that the evidence merely bolsters the element of force. By making unlawfulness of the force an issue, the focus remains on the offender's conduct being the causative factor for the sexual act, but the victim's manifestation of lack of consent is now direct evidence that must be considered by the trier of fact. This also empowers victims by making their desire for a sexual act not to occur an admissible factor to be considered in a case of forcible rape. Also, the word “commits” was substituted for “engages in” a sexual act, to remove any suggestion of reciprocal engagement in the act by the victim.

Sexual Assault: The offense of Aggravated Sexual Assault is currently one of the most confusing aspects of Article 120. The revision “unpacks” the offense and clarifies what conduct is proscribed. The offense is renamed Sexual Assault to address a court member’s reluctance to convict for “aggravated” sexual assault merely because the offense does not, for whatever reason, seem sufficiently aggravated to the court member. Also, since there is no sexual act offense of lesser severity, the term “aggravated” was a misnomer. The revision also removes the focus from the degree of incapacity of the victim and refocuses on the accused’s actions. Thus, a sexual act with a person who the offender knows or reasonably should know is incapable of consenting due to intoxication or a mental or physical disability is prohibited.

The definition of sexual assault by causing bodily harm was clarified to note that any sexual act or contact without consent constitutes bodily harm, providing an explicit “no means no” statute. A sexual assault of a victim who is in a state of ‘frozen fear’ when assaulted may be prosecuted under this subsection. Fraudulent representations that the sexual act was for a medical purpose, or that the accused was some other person, are also prohibited. A sexual act with a person who the offender knows or reasonably should know is sleeping or unconscious is prohibited. Also, the word “commits” was substituted for “engages in” a sexual act, to remove any suggestion of reciprocal engagement in the act by the victim.

The change also helps facilitate the prosecution of cases where doctors or other professionals take advantage of their position to abuse a patient. Fraudulent representations that the sexual act was for a medical purpose, or that the accused was some other person, are also prohibited. Article 120b(1)(D) is intended to cover 'fraud in factum' situations when one person pretends to be another, rather than merely 'fraud in the inducement,' like flattering someone or exaggerating one's own desirability. See for example United States v. Booker, 25 M.J. 114 (CMA 1987), in which 'fraud in factum' was accepted as a theory of criminal liability under the pre-2007 version of Article 120.

Sexual Contact offenses: Aggravated Sexual Contact and Abusive Sexual Contact are mostly unchanged except to substitute “commits” for “engages in” in accordance with the analysis above. Wrongful Sexual Contact is deleted because it is no longer necessary. With the clarified “bodily harm” under Sexual Assault (any offensive touching), Abusive Sexual Contact now also contains an offense for any offensive touching that is sexual contact. This is the same offense that is now separately listed under Wrongful Sexual Contact. Due to the complete overlap, Wrongful Sexual Contact was deleted.

Defenses: The only defense denied in all circumstances under this section is marriage. Rape and sexual assault are offender-focused crimes that are criminal even if the offender is married to the victim. This is a change from the current statute, which allowed marriage as a defense when the victim was incapacitated, even if there was no consent to the sexual act. Otherwise, the accused is free to bring any available defense. This is a change from the current statute, under which the restrictions on consent as a defense, and the manner in which the defense is proven, have resulted in a great deal of litigation and confusion, which is unlikely to be resolved by the decision of the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces in United States v. Neal, 68 M.J. 289 (2010).

Definitions in Article 120(t) are renumbered and modified as Article 120(g):

Sexual act includes penetration of the vulva by the penis, and penetration of the vulva, anus, or mouth, by any other part of the body or by a foreign object.

Sexual contact is expanded to include touching any part of the body with sexual intent. Touching may be accomplished by any part of the body, including the hands or the mouth.

Bodily harm is clarified to better explain that an offensive touching includes any sexual act or contact performed without consent. The definition of grievous bodily harm is unchanged.

Force: This definition was simplified and the overlaps with “threaten or place another person in fear” were reduced or eliminated to simplify charging decisions. The Military Judges’ Benchbook definition of “unlawful force” from Article 128, Assault, was added.

Threatening or placing that other person in fear: This definition was greatly simplified and the overlaps with force were reduced or eliminated to simplify charging decisions. The ability to carry out the threat was removed as a proof requirement for the government.

Consent: The definition of consent was left generally unchanged. The restrictions on the use of evidence of consent were deleted. The circular language in the current law using nearly the same words to explain the interaction of consent and capacity, as were used to define an offense under Sexual Assault, was deleted. The Constitutional and other legal issues that have developed in litigation regarding Article 120, as amended in 2007, are resolved. The treatment of consent is simplified and may be disputed where it is relevant. Categories of persons who may not legally give consent to sexual acts or contact are set forth within the statute to simplify the matters at issue in court. For example, the proposed change makes it clear that sleeping or unconscious persons cannot consent. At least two court members’ panels within the last year have acquitted in sexual assault cases due to confusion over this issue. Persons subjected to a fraudulent representation of a professional purpose to accomplish the act, or under the belief that the person committing the act is another person, cannot consent because they do not understand to what they are consenting. Lack of consent was made a permissive inference based on the circumstances of the offense.

Subsection (b): NEW ARTICLE 120b:

Purpose of proposed changes: This section (Article 120b) of the proposed three-section modification of Article 120 covers sexual offenses against children (any person who has not attained the age of 16 years). It simplifies the language in the current Article 120 for rape of children over 12 to make the requirements for proving such a rape appropriate to children rather than the current standard of a reasonable adult victim. The definitions of prohibited sexual acts, sexual contact, and lewd acts are broadened to cover all possible sexual offenses against children currently covered under several confusing and disparate subsections of Article 120. It should be noted that what would be a fourth section to Article 120 offenses, Article 120a, “Stalking,” already exists.

Specific provisions:

Rape. Sexual acts defined as rape now include penetration by objects. Any sexual act with a child under 12 is rape, and is a strict liability offense. This is identical to long-standing military law under older carnal knowledge provisions and the current Art. 120, except the definition of rape is broadened to include to include penetration by objects. The defense of mistake of fact as to age is eliminated for cases involving rape of a child. Marriage is eliminated as a defense to rape of a child under any circumstances. It is not acceptable to rape any person, even if that person is your spouse. Additionally, sexual activity is not appropriate with children under 12.

Rape of a child over 12 requires some use of force together with the sexual act. The types of force required are similar to those for adults, but with lower thresholds given that the victim is a child. Unlike offenses against adults, consent is not at issue because children cannot consent as a matter of law. Although reworded for clarity, there is ultimately no substantive change in long-standing military law regarding the offense of rape of a child. The substantive change from the current Article 120 is to correct the use of adult standards of force when the victim is a child.

Sexual Assault. This is the same as the current Article 120. Strict liability for any sexual act with a child over 12 years, except the accused has a defense of mistake of fact as to age, which the accused must prove by a preponderance of evidence.

Sexual Abuse. Sexual Abuse combines several offenses into one. This combination of offenses was intended to capture the gravamen of the offenses while maintaining the simplicity that was desired for counsel, judges and members. Any lewd act with a child of any age is punishable under this subsection. The defense of mistake of fact as to age is available when the child is over 12 years, which the accused must prove by a preponderance of evidence. “Lewd act” is defined to include all sexual contact, indecent exposure to a child, communicating indecent language to a child, and indecent conduct with or in the presence of a child. Exposure, communication, and indecent conduct now include offenses committed via any communication technology to encompass offenses committed via the internet, cell phones, and other modern forms of communication. This fixes the current requirement under indecent liberties that only conduct committed in the physical presence of a child is punishable; this has made prosecution of cases difficult where, for example, an accused masturbates in front of a child via webcam.

Consent. Subsection (f) explicitly states that lack of consent need not be proven for any sexual offense against a child and that a child may not consent as a matter of law. This is the same as current law.

Subsection (c): NEW ARTICLE 120c:

Purpose of proposed changes: The proposed Article 120c captures non-consensual sexual misconduct offenses that subject an offender to sex offender registration. It is the third of three distinct sex crime sections derived from Article 120, as amended in 2007, and captures those offenses that are something other than rape and sexual assault of adults (Art. 120) or rape, sexual assault and sexual abuse of children (Art. 120b). Note that Article 120a is the offense of stalking, a provision unaffected by the proposed amendments to Art. 120.

Specific provisions:

Indecent Viewing, Visual Recording, or Broadcasting. This offense clarifies the offense previously covered by Article 120(k)—Indecent act. It makes clear that both viewing and recording are offenses. It also explicitly creates an offense for distribution of any recording made in violation of the statute, which is not clearly prohibited under the current statute. A generic “indecent acts” provision, identical to what existed under Article 134 prior to the 2007 amendments, would also be proposed by Executive Order amendment to Part IV, “Punitive Articles,” of the Manual for Courts-Martial as Article 134 listed offenses that would capture other types of sexual misconduct that do not qualify for sex offender registration, but nonetheless violate military law.

Forcible pandering. This provision is clarified, but otherwise remains unchanged from the current Art. 120. Non-forcible pandering and non-forcible prostitution are already specified offenses under Article 134 in Part IV, “Punitive Articles,” Manual for Courts-Martial.

Indecent exposure. This provision is changed from the current Art. 120 to take away the limitation based on viewing by persons other than members of the household. If the conduct is obscene under the definition of indecent then the conduct is not constitutionally protected and the accused should not be able to avoid criminal consequences by committing the obscenity towards members of his or her own family. A lesser offense of “wrongful exposure” (public nudity that is contrary to good order and discipline or service discrediting) would be proposed as a specified offense under Article 134 of Part IV, “Punitive Articles,” Manual for Courts-Martial.

Definitions. The “private area” definition for the offense of Indecent Viewing includes nudity or someone clad only in underwear.

Subsection (d): REPEAL OF ARTICLE 125:

Forcible Sodomy. The proposed changes to Article 120—Rape and Sexual Assault expand the definition of prohibited sexual acts to include not just sexual intercourse, but all forms of intercourse, including oral and anal sex, and penetration by objects. All offenses previously punishable as forcible sodomy under Article 125 will remain punishable under the proposed changes to Article 120. This change is based on the belief that rape and sexual assault do not depend on the bodily orifice that is violated.

Consensual Sodomy. This provision in Article 125 has been curtailed by court precedent. The Supreme Court has held that private, consensual sexual activity between adults, regardless of gender, is a protected liberty interest under the Constitution. Lawrence v. Texas, 539 US 558 (2003). In light of Lawrence, the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces expressly limited the scope of Article 125 consensual sodomy prosecutions to cases with a definite military nexus. United States v. Marcum, 63 MJ 198, 207-08 (CAAF 2004) (Lawrence liberty interest tempered by needs of military).

A proposed change to Article 134 creates a new offense of wrongful sexual activity, which prohibits those acts now covered under Article 125 as consensual sodomy, as well as other consensual sexual acts, so long as the sexual activity is to the prejudice of good order and discipline in the Armed Forces or is conduct of a nature to bring discredit upon the Armed Forces, thus providing the definite military nexus required by the Constitution.

Sodomy offenses against children. These will be covered under the proposed Article 120b, which covers rape, sexual assault and sexual abuse of children, including all sexual acts and penetration by objects. All offenses against children previously punishable under Article 125 will continue to be punishable under the proposed changes to Article 120b.

Bestiality. This offense will now be covered under proposed changes to Article 134—Animal Abuse and Abandonment, as a form of punishable animal abuse.

Subsection (e): CONFORMING AMENDMENTS:

1. Amendment to Article 43: This is a technical amendment to Article 43 to conform references to the current Article 120 (Rape, Sexual Assault and Sexual Misconduct) with the proposed revision to Article 120 (Rape and Sexual Assault Generally) and enactment of Article 120b (Rape and Sexual Assault of Children) and Article 120c (Sexual Misconduct).

2. Amendment to Article 118: This is a technical amendment to Article 118 to conform references to the current Article 120 (Rape, Sexual Assault and Sexual Misconduct) with the proposed revision to Article 120 (Rape and Sexual Assault Generally) and enactment of Article 120b (Rape and Sexual Assault of Children) and Article 120c (Sexual Misconduct).

Budget Implications: This proposal would not result in any appreciable increased costs to the Department of Defense as it relates to the administration of the military justice system.

Changes to Existing Law: This proposal would make the following changes to chapter 47 of title 10, United States Code:

~~(1) TWELVE YEARS.— In a prosecution under subsection (b) (rape of a child), subsection (g) (aggravated sexual contact with a child), or subsection (j) (indecent liberty with a child), it need not be proven that the accused knew that the other person engaging in the sexual act, contact, or liberty had not attained the age of 12 years. It is not an affirmative defense that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 12 years.—~~

~~(2) SIXTEEN YEARS.— In a prosecution under subsection (d) (aggravated sexual assault of a child), subsection (f) (aggravated sexual abuse of a child), subsection (i) (abusive sexual contact with a child), or subsection (j) (indecent liberty with a child), it need not be proven that the accused knew that the other person engaging in the sexual act, contact, or liberty had not attained the age of 16 years. Unlike in paragraph (1), however, it is an affirmative defense that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 16 years.—~~

~~(p)~~(e) PROOF OF THREAT.—In a prosecution under this section, in proving that the accused a person made a threat, it need not be proven that the accused person actually intended to carry out the threat or had the ability to carry out the threat.

~~(q) MARRIAGE.—~~

~~(1) IN GENERAL.—In a prosecution under paragraph (2) of subsection (c) (aggravated sexual assault), or under subsection (d) (aggravated sexual assault of a child), subsection (f) (aggravated sexual abuse of a child), subsection (i) (abusive sexual contact with a child), subsection (j) (indecent liberty with a child), subsection (m) (wrongful sexual contact), or subsection (n) (indecent exposure), it is an affirmative defense that the accused and the other person when they engaged in the sexual act, sexual contact, or sexual conduct are married to each other.~~

~~(2) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this subsection, a marriage is a relationship, recognized by the laws of a competent State or foreign jurisdiction, between the accused and the other person as spouses. A marriage exists until it is dissolved in accordance with the laws of a competent State or foreign jurisdiction.~~

~~(3) EXCEPTION. Paragraph (1) shall not apply if the accused's intent at the time of the sexual conduct is to abuse, humiliate, or degrade any person.~~

(f) Defenses.—An accused may raise any applicable defenses available under this chapter or the Rules for Court-Martial. Marriage is not a defense for any conduct in issue in any prosecution under this section.

~~(f) CONSENT AND MISTAKE OF FACT AS TO CONSENT.—Lack of permission is an element of the offense in subsection (m) (wrongful sexual contact). Consent and mistake of fact as to consent are not an issue, or an affirmative defense, in a prosecution under any other subsection, except they are an affirmative defense for the sexual conduct in issue in a prosecution under subsection (a) (rape), subsection (c) (aggravated sexual assault), subsection (e) (aggravated sexual contact), and subsection (h) (abusive sexual contact).~~

~~(t)~~(g) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) SEXUAL ACT.—The term “sexual act” means—

(A) contact between the penis and the vulva or anus or mouth, and for purposes of this subparagraph contact involving the penis occurs upon penetration, however slight; or

(B) the penetration, however slight, of the ~~genital opening~~ vulva or anus or mouth of another by a ~~hand or finger~~ any part of the body or by any object, with an intent to abuse, humiliate, harass, or degrade any person or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

(2) SEXUAL CONTACT.—The term “sexual contact” means—

(A) the intentional touching, or causing another person to touch, either directly or through the clothing, ~~of the genitalia, anus, groin, breast, inner thigh, or buttocks of another~~ any person, with an intent to abuse, humiliate or degrade any person; or

(B) intentionally any touching, or causing another person to touch, either directly or through the clothing, ~~the genitalia, anus, groin, breast, inner thigh, or buttocks~~ any body part of any person, if done with an intent to abuse, humiliate, or degrade any person or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

Touching may be accomplished by any part of the body.

(3) BODILY HARM.—The term “bodily harm” means any offensive touching of another, however slight, including any nonconsensual sexual act or nonconsensual sexual contact.

~~(3)~~(4) GRIEVOUS BODILY HARM.—The term “grievous bodily harm” means serious bodily injury. It includes fractured or dislocated bones, deep cuts, torn members of the body, serious damage to internal organs, and other severe bodily injuries. It does not include minor injuries such as a black eye or a bloody nose. ~~It is the same level of injury as in section 928 (article 128) of this chapter, and a lesser degree of injury than in section 2246(4) of title 18.~~

~~(4) DANGEROUS WEAPON OR OBJECT.—~~The term “~~dangerous weapon or object~~” means—

~~(A) any firearm, loaded or not, and whether operable or not;~~

~~(B) any other weapon, device, instrument, material, or substance, whether animate or inanimate, that in the manner it is used, or is intended to be used, is known to be capable of producing death or grievous bodily harm; or~~

~~(C) any object fashioned or utilized in such a manner as to lead the victim under the circumstances to reasonably believe it to be capable of producing death or grievous bodily harm.~~

~~(5) FORCE.—~~The term “~~force~~” means ~~action to compel submission of another or to overcome or prevent another's resistance by—~~

~~(A) the use or display of a dangerous weapon or object;~~

~~(B) the suggestion of possession of a dangerous weapon or object that is used in a manner to cause another to believe it is a dangerous weapon or object; or~~

~~(C) physical violence, strength, power, or restraint applied to another person, sufficient that the other person could not avoid or escape the sexual conduct.~~

(B) the use of such physical strength or violence as is sufficient to overcome, restrain, or injure a person; or

(C) inflicting physical harm sufficient to coerce or compel submission by the victim.

(6) UNLAWFUL FORCE.—The term “unlawful force” means an act of force done without legal justification or excuse.

~~(6)~~(7) THREATENING OR PLACING THAT OTHER PERSON IN FEAR.—The term “threatening or placing that other person in fear” ~~under paragraph (3) of subsection (a) (rape), or under subsection (e) (aggravated sexual contact),~~ means a communication or action that is of sufficient consequence to cause a reasonable fear that non-compliance will result in the victim or another person being subjected to ~~death, grievous bodily harm, or kidnapping~~ the wrongful action contemplated by the communication or action.

(7) THREATENING OR PLACING THAT OTHER PERSON IN FEAR.—

— (A) IN GENERAL.— The term “threatening or placing that other person in fear” under paragraph (1)(A) of subsection (c) (aggravated sexual assault), or under subsection (h) (abusive sexual contact), means a communication or action that is of sufficient consequence to cause a reasonable fear that non-compliance will result in the victim or another being subjected to a lesser degree of harm than death, grievous bodily harm, or kidnapping.

— (B) INCLUSIONS.— Such lesser degree of harm includes—

— (i) physical injury to another person or to another person's property; or

— (ii) a threat—

— (I) to accuse any person of a crime;

— (II) to expose a secret or publicize an asserted fact, whether true or false, tending to subject some person to hatred, contempt or ridicule; or

— (III) through the use or abuse of military position, rank, or authority, to affect or threaten to affect, either positively or negatively, the military career of some person.

(8) BODILY HARM.— The term “bodily harm” means any offensive touching of another, however slight.

(9) CHILD.— The term “child” means any person who has not attained the age of 16 years.

(10) LEWD ACT.— The term “lewd act” means—

(A) the intentional touching, not through the clothing, of the genitalia of another person, with an intent to abuse, humiliate, or degrade any person, or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person; or

(B) intentionally causing another person to touch, not through the clothing, the genitalia of any person with an intent to abuse, humiliate or degrade any person, or to arouse or gratify the sexual desire of any person.

(11) INDECENT LIBERTY.— The term “indecent liberty” means indecent conduct, but physical contact is not required. It includes one who with the requisite intent exposes one's genitalia, anus, buttocks, or female areola or nipple to a child. An indecent liberty may consist of communication of indecent language as long as the communication is made in the physical presence of the child. If words designed to excite sexual desire are spoken to a child, or a child is exposed to or involved in sexual conduct, it is an indecent liberty; the child's consent is not relevant.

(12) INDECENT CONDUCT.— The term “indecent conduct” means that form of immorality relating to sexual impurity which is grossly vulgar, obscene, and repugnant to common propriety, and tends to excite sexual desire or deprave morals with respect to sexual relations. Indecent conduct includes observing, or making a videotape, photograph, motion picture, print, negative, slide, or other mechanically, electronically, or chemically reproduced visual material, without another person's consent, and contrary to that other person's reasonable expectation of privacy, of—

(A) that other person's genitalia, anus, or buttocks, or (if that other person is female) that person's areola or nipple; or

~~(B) that other person while that other person is engaged in a sexual act, sodomy (under section 925 (article 125)), or sexual contact.~~

~~(13) ACT OF PROSTITUTION.—The term “act of prostitution” means a sexual act, sexual contact, or lewd act for the purpose of receiving money or other compensation.~~

~~(14)(8) CONSENT.—(A) The term “consent” means words or overt acts indicating a freely given agreement to the sexual conduct at issue by a competent person. An expression of lack of consent through words or conduct means there is no consent. Lack of verbal or physical resistance or submission resulting from the accused's use of force, threat of force, or placing another person in fear does not constitute consent. A current or previous dating or social or sexual relationship by itself or the manner of dress of the person involved with the accused in the sexual conduct at issue shall not constitute consent. A person cannot consent to sexual activity if—~~

~~(A) under 16 years of age; or~~

~~(B) substantially incapable of—~~

~~(i) appraising the nature of the sexual conduct at issue due to—~~

~~(I) mental impairment or unconsciousness resulting from consumption of alcohol, drugs, a similar substance, or otherwise; or~~

~~(II) mental disease or defect which renders the person unable to understand the nature of the sexual conduct at issue;~~

~~(ii) physically declining participation in the sexual conduct at issue; or~~

~~(iii) physically communicating unwillingness to engage in the sexual~~

~~conduct at issue.~~

(B) A sleeping, unconscious or incompetent person cannot consent. A person cannot consent to force causing or likely to cause death or grievous bodily harm, or to being rendered unconscious. A person cannot consent while under threat or in fear, or based on the circumstances described in subparagraph (C) or (D) of subsection (b)(1).

(C) Lack of consent may be inferred based on the circumstances of the offense. All the surrounding circumstances are to be considered in determining whether a person gave consent, or whether a person did not resist or ceased to resist only because of another person's actions.

~~(15) MISTAKE OF FACT AS TO CONSENT.—The term “mistake of fact as to consent” means the accused held, as a result of ignorance or mistake, an incorrect belief that the other person engaging in the sexual conduct consented. The ignorance or mistake must have existed in the mind of the accused and must have been reasonable under all the circumstances. To be reasonable the ignorance or mistake must have been based on information, or lack of it, which would indicate to a reasonable person that the other person consented. Additionally, the ignorance or mistake cannot be based on the negligent failure to discover the true facts. Negligence is the absence of due care. Due care is what a reasonably careful person would do under the same or similar circumstances. The accused's state of intoxication, if any, at the time of the offense is not relevant to mistake of fact. A mistaken belief that the other person consented must be that which a reasonably careful, ordinary, prudent, sober adult would have had under the circumstances at the time of the offense.~~

~~(16) AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE.—The term “affirmative defense” means any special defense which, although not denying that the accused committed the objective acts constituting the offense charged, denies, wholly, or partially, criminal responsibility for those acts. The accused has the burden of proving the affirmative defense by a preponderance of evidence. After the defense meets this burden, the prosecution shall have the burden of proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the affirmative defense did not exist.~~

(d) AGE OF CHILD.—

(1) UNDER 12 YEARS.—In a prosecution under this section, it need not be proven that the accused knew the age of the other person engaging in the sexual act or lewd act. It is not a defense that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 12 years.

(2) UNDER 16 YEARS.—In a prosecution under this section, it need not be proven that the accused knew that the other person engaging in the sexual act or lewd act had not attained the age of 16 years, but it is a defense in a prosecution under subsection (b) (sexual assault of a child) or subsection (c) (sexual abuse of a child), which the accused must prove by a preponderance of the evidence, that the accused reasonably believed that the child had attained the age of 16 years, if the child had in fact attained at least the age of 12 years.

(e) PROOF OF THREAT.—In a prosecution under this section, in proving that a person made a threat, it need not be proven that the person actually intended to carry out the threat or had the ability to carry out the threat.

(f) MARRIAGE.—In a prosecution under subsection (b) (sexual assault of a child) or subsection (c) (sexual abuse of a child), it is a defense, which the accused must prove by a preponderance of the evidence, that the persons engaging in the sexual act or lewd act were at that time married to each other, except where the accused commits a sexual act upon the person when the accused knows or reasonably should know that the other person is asleep, unconscious, or otherwise unaware that the sexual act is occurring or when the other person is incapable of consenting to the sexual act due to impairment by any drug, intoxicant, or other similar substance, and that condition was known or reasonably should have been known by the accused.

(g) CONSENT.—Lack of consent is not an element and need not be proven in any prosecution under this section. A child not legally married to the person committing the sexual act, lewd act, or use of force cannot consent to any sexual act, lewd act, or use of force.

(3) THREATENING OR PLACING THAT CHILD IN FEAR.—The term “threatening or placing that child in fear” means a communication or action that is of sufficient consequence to cause the child to fear that non-compliance will result in the child or another person being subjected to the action contemplated by the communication or action.

(4) CHILD.—The term “child” means any person who has not attained the age of 16 years.

(D) any indecent conduct, intentionally done with or in the presence of a child, including via any communication technology, that amounts to a form of immorality relating to sexual impurity which is grossly vulgar, obscene, and repugnant to common propriety, and tends to excite sexual desire or deprave morals with respect to sexual relations.

§ 920c. Art. 120c. Other sexual misconduct

(a) INDECENT VIEWING, VISUAL RECORDING, OR BROADCASTING.—Any person subject to this chapter who, without legal justification or lawful authorization—

(1) knowingly and wrongfully views the private area of another person, without that other person’s consent and under circumstances in which that other person has a reasonable expectation of privacy;

(2) knowingly photographs, videotapes, films, or records by any means, the

private area of another person, without that other person's consent and under circumstances in which that other person has a reasonable expectation of privacy; or

(2) PRIVATE AREA.—The term “private area” means the naked or underwear-clad genitalia, anus, buttocks, or female areola or nipple.

(3) REASONABLE EXPECTATION OF PRIVACY.—The term “under circumstances in which that other person has a reasonable expectation of privacy” means—

(4) BROADCAST.—The term “broadcast” means to electronically transmit a visual image with the intent that it be viewed by a person or persons.

(5) DISTRIBUTE.—The term “distribute” means delivering to the actual or constructive possession of another, including transmission by electronic means.
